

Week 8 Report

In this week,

1. I optimized the index page by using the scrolling display to show the cover of books. Shown as below:

It automatically scrolls until the user move the mouse beyond the row. There are three genres of books, so there are three rows to display the cover of books of each genre. Users can stop whichever they want. In addition, click the cover of book will go to the detail page in Goodreads (<https://www.goodreads.com/>).

2. I changed the index page by replacing the navigation bar with the buttons of each genre. Users can go to the corresponding genre by clicking the buttons. It will go to the sorting of rating number by default. Shown as below:

3. I used the star ★★★★★ to represent the number of rating. According to the rating from database, it will show in stars correspondingly. Shown as below:
